 130 magazine articles and op-ed newspaper essays

Lead Counsel in U.S. Supreme Court Cases (clients underlined and in bold type):

Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007), argued 3/19/07—Rejecting Bivens damages action against federal officials for ongoing retaliation against rancher who refused to give their agency an easement.

Johanns v. Livestock Marketing, 544 U.S. 550 (2005), argued 12/8/04—Rejecting First Amendment challenge to the federal beef promotion program on a ‘government speech’ rationale not considered in United Foods.

Nike v. Kasky, 539 U.S. 654 (2003), argued 4/23/03—Declining on procedural/jurisdictional grounds to reach merits of First Amendment questions presented by citizen suit seeking to impose liability for statements made by Nike in course of public debate; cert dismissed as improvidently granted, but majority of Justices seemingly reject state court’s holding that, because the speech in question could encourage purchase of speaker’s products and had that purpose, it could be deemed ‘commercial’ and thus was wholly unprotected if misleading.

State Farm v. Campbell, 538 U.S. 408 (2003), argued 12/11/02—Reversing and remanding as excessive $145 million state court punitive damages award and establishing presumptive ceiling of 9:1 in ratio of punitive to compensatory damages as a matter of substantive due process, at least where state’s highest court’s decision to uphold the punitive award rested in part on defendant’s out-of-state misconduct.

FCC v. NextWave, 537 U.S. 293 (2003), argued 10/8/02—Rejecting FCC’s cancellation of spectrum licenses held by debtor reorganizing in bankruptcy where licenses secured multi-billion dollar credit extended under installment purchase arrangement by FCC and holding that Bankruptcy Code’s provision (sec. 525(a)) expressly banning revocation of license for nonpayment of dischargeable debt contains no implied exception for revocation motivated by regulatory purpose properly within FCC’s jurisdiction.

U.S. v. United Foods, 533 U.S. 405 (2001), argued 4/17/01—First Amendment precludes forcing mushroom growers to pay for generic advertising campaign unrelated to substantive regulation of mushroom market.

New York Times v. Tasini, 533 U.S. 483 (2001), argued 3/28/01—Copyright Act requires permission from author of each contribution to composite publication reproduced in electronic database.

Bush v. Gore I (Bush v. Palm Beach County Canvassing Board), 531 U.S. 70 (2000), argued 12/1/00—vacating and remanding decision of Florida Supreme Court establishing procedures for recounting ballots cast in 2000 presidential election, and directing state court to explain how its recount procedures could be reconciled with U.S. Const. Art. II, §1, Cl.2 (requiring state's legislature to establish method of selecting state's slate of presidential electors) and 3 U.S.C. §5 (setting relevant time frame). The Florida court did not respond to the Supreme Court's demand until after SCOTUS had decided to halt the state's recount after second argument (by David Boies) on 12/11/00.

Ortiz v. Fibreboard, 527 U.S. 815 (1999), argued 12/8/98—invalidating $1.53 billion asbestos class action settlement as improperly certified on a limited fund theory under Rule 23 (b)(1)(B).

AT&T v. Iowa Utilities Board, 525 U.S. 366 (1999), argued 10/13/98—upholding in part the Bell Operating Companies' challenge to FCC jurisdiction over interconnection with local exchange networks.

Baker v. General Motors, Inc., 522 U.S. 222 (1998), argued 10/15/97—holding unenforceable, in Missouri trial in which plaintiffs sought to have expert testify against G.M., Michigan court's judgment purporting to enjoin that expert's testimony (as part of decree settling litigation between the expert and G.M.), where plaintiffs had neither been parties to nor represented in the Michigan litigation, inasmuch as full faith and credit to judgments does not include giving them binding effect against absent parties.

Amchem Products, Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591 (1997), argued 2/18/97—invalidating $1.3 billion asbestos class action settlement under Rule 23 (b)(3), where class was found by Court to be too heterogeneous for purposes of litigation by purported class representatives and accordingly ineligible for judicial approval for settlement at their behest.

Vacco v. Quill, 521 U.S. 793 (1997), argued 1/8/97—States may prohibit physician-assisted suicide for terminally ill patients nearing death even while empowering such patients to refuse or terminate life-extending medical procedures (including nutrition and hydration), where necessary pain relief is made available despite predictable but unintended death-hastening effect; Court leaves open question whether some applications of state law that bans provision of lethal medication for self-administration by terminally ill patients who ask to die without consciousness-destroying effects of pain medication, but that empowers patients to demand termination of all life-extending procedures (even after "terminal sedation" is administered to render such patients unconscious), would violate due process or equal protection.

Timmons v. Twin Cities Area New Party, 520 U.S. 351 (1997), argued 12/4/96—States may limit each candidate on an election ballot to one nominating party.

U.S. v. Chesapeake & Potomac Tel. Co.; N.C.T.A. v. Bell Atlantic, 516 U.S. 415 (1996), argued 12/6/95—Congress may not ban video programming by telephone cos. (ruling won below) (mooted by 1996 Telecom. Act).

Honda Motor Co. v. Oberg, 512 U.S. 415 (1994), argued 4/20/94—Right to judicial review of amount of punitive damages.

TXO v. Alliance Resources, 509 U.S. 443 (1993), argued 3/31/93—Rejecting due process attack on punitive damages award 526 times size of compensatory award where evidence would support finding that punitive award was much lower multiple of harm that defendant’s conduct might have caused had plan succeeded.

Cipollone v. Liggett, 505 U.S. 504 (1992) (reargued 1/13/92)—Tort suits against cigarette companies for costs imposed by their behavior on smokers and on states not federally preempted by companies’ compliance with Surgeon General’s labeling requirements.

Rust v. Sullivan, 500 U.S. 173 (1991), argued 10/30/90—Abortion counseling may be banned in federally funded clinics where recipients of federal funds remain free to establish physically and fiscally separate, albeit wholly-controlled, facilities making such counseling available without support from public funds.

Adams Fruit Co. v. Barrett, 494 U.S. 638 (1990), argued 1/17/90—Department of Labor may not limit migrant farm workers’ federal suits authorized by Congress.

Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. 33 (1989, argued 1/9/89)—Bankruptcy trustee’s fraudulent transfer action is subject to Seventh Amendment.

Sable Communications Co. v. FCC, 492 U.S. 115 (1989), argued 4/19/89—Congress may not abolish non-obscene “dial-a-porn” services where methods of keeping children from accessing such services are not shown to be unavailable.

Schweiker v. Chilicky, 487 U.S. 412 (1988), argued 3/1/88—No Bivens action for wrongful denial of social security disability benefits.

Pennzoil v. Texaco, 481 U.S. 1 (1987), argued 1/12/87—Federal court may not interfere with state court enforcement of multi-billion dollar judgment.

Bowers v. Hardwick, 478 U.S. 186 (1986), argued 3/31/86—No right of privacy for consensual sodomy.*

Fisher v. City of Berkeley, 475 U.S. 260 (1986), argued 11/12/85—Local rent control is not preempted by Sherman Act.

---

* The Hardwick decision was both expressly overruled, and held to have been wrong from the date it was decided, in Lawrence v. Texas, 123 S.Ct. 2472 (2003), in which I was counsel of record for the American Civil Liberties Union and the ACLU of Texas as amici for petitioner Lawrence.

Bd. of Ed. of Oklahoma City v. Nat'l Gay Task Force, 470 U.S. 903 (1985), argued 1/14/85—First Amd. protects gay rights advocacy in public schools (judgment for NGTF affirmed by equally divided Court).

Northeast Bancorp v. Federal Reserve System, 472 U.S. 159 (1985), argued 4/15/85—States may limit bank mergers to several-state region.

Hawaii Housing Authority v. Midkiff, 467 U.S. 229 (1984), argued 3/26/84—States may force landowners to sell privately held residential land to occupants at fair prices set by juries.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. v. California Energy Resources Conservation and Development Commission, 461 U.S. 190 (1983), argued 1/17/83—State moratorium on nuclear power plants not preempted.

White v. Mass. Council of Construction Employers, 460 U.S. 204 (1983), argued 11/1/82—Commerce clause does not bar municipal hiring preferences.

Larkin v. Grendel's Den, 459 U.S. 116 (1982), argued 10/4/82—Establishment Clause bars delegating licensing power to churches under statute permitting issuance of liquor licenses to establishments without regard to objections of neighbors but giving neighboring schools and churches in particular an automatic veto power over such liquor licenses.

Crawford v. Board of Education of City of Los Angeles, 458 U.S. 527 (1982), argued 3/22/82—State may limit court-ordered busing for purposes of racial integration to instances where such busing is required to satisfy U.S. Constitution while imposing no similar limits on court-ordered busing for other purposes.

N.O.W. v. Idaho, 455 U.S. 918, 102 S. Ct. 1272, 1273 (1982), no oral argument—Federal courts may not interfere with Congress's time extension for Equal Rights Amendment. *

Heffron v. International Society for Krishna Consciousness, 452 U.S. 640 (1981), argued 4/20/81—State may restrict speech and solicitation on fairgrounds through neutral rule confining such activity to fixed booths that interested fairgoers are free to enter or to avoid at their own option.

Richmond Newspapers v. Virginia, 448 U.S. 555 (1980), argued 2/19/80—Press and public have right to attend criminal trials.

Boston v. Anderson, 439 U.S. 951, 1389 (1978), no oral argument—State court may not prohibit free speech by municipality on referendum issue pending before the people in statewide election. *
